History

We began to establish our network of services across the globe through the 1999 merger of the Jones Lang Wootton companies (“JLW”, founded in England in 1783) with LaSalle Partners Incorporated (“LaSalle Partners”, founded in the United States in 1968 and incorporated in 1997). Building on Jones Lang Wootton’s international strength in Europe and Asia Pacific and LaSalle’s depth in North America, we blended two companies with complementary market presence, rich histories of service to clients and cultures of employee development and retention.

Landlord: GID

What we've accomplished

As the incumbent leasing team, we advised on the repositioning of shop space into a junior anchor opportunity, and leased it to Planet Fitness. In addition, we generated offers from Erewhon, LA Fitness/Club Studio, John Reed Fitness, Gold's Gym, FunLab, Ross, and strong regional retailers. We coordinated and managed tours with Sprouts, Grocery Outlet, EOS Fitness, WSS Shoes, and Nordstrom Rack—providing direct insight into how sunset + vine fits within each merchant's expansion plan.

In addition, we advised GID on renewal negotiations with Verizon and 800 Degrees, and termination discussions with Walgreens. Our lengthy relationship with Burlington's senior real estate executive helped secure a fitness use waiver, removing a material tenant constraint, which broadens the capacity for the property's uses.

As a national advisory practice, JLL supplies real-time market intelligence including bankruptcy updates, sometimes in advance of broader public announcements.

Scott Burns, GID's trusted leasing advisor, will lead the leasing effort along with Liam Bredberg and will include the addition of Francesca Howard—a proven collaborative team committed to – and excited by – this project.

With the recent public announcement of the signing of Sony's Alamo Draft House in the neighboring Cineramedome, and the opening of Blue Note Jazz Club (both JLL deals), our marketing campaign will leverage messaging that Hollywood is coming back, stronger than ever. With refreshed leasing graphics & signage, a digital leasing site we will tell a curated visual story to capitalize on this momentum.

A monthly on-site presence will be maintained for tours, candid assessments of the asset condition, and market updates.

We have rebuilt a targeted retailer prospecting plan, space-by-space, based on anchor uses, the surrounding market, and current demand, not legacy assumptions.

Delivering results

Despite City challenges and post-COVID recovery pace, momentum has built significantly over the most recent 12 months and conditions are more favorable to convert retailer interest into signed leases.

MARKET KNOWLEDGE

04

A series of thin, light orange wavy lines are located in the bottom right corner, creating a sense of movement and depth.

HOLLYWOOD MARKET OVERVIEW

Sunset + Vine Apartments occupies one of the most recognizable corners in Los Angeles. The 80,000 SF retail component sits at the base of a ±700,000 RSF mixed-use asset with 300 residential units above at the hard corner of Sunset Boulevard and Vine Street, with an impressive 68,000 vehicles per day traveling past the property. With a Walk Score of 95, few retail assets in the country combine this level of daytime traffic, tourist volume, and residential density in a single, controlled footprint. Within three miles the property draws on 384,000 residents with average household incomes of $133,565 and $18.5 billion in annual household expenditure. Greater Hollywood attracts 53.2 million annual visitors with stays averaging 2.4 hours, and the Hollywood/Vine Metro station moves nearly 1.85 million passengers a year directly to this corner.

Daytime demand is currently comprised of, among other things, Netflix's multi-building Hollywood campus, Paramount Global, Sirius XM, Sony Music Publishing, Fender, Puma, and Skims corporate HQ. In addition, more than 500,000 SF of office and roughly 1,000 high-end residential units are in the delivery pipeline. That said, the assignment is defined less by the corner's high profile than by the leasing challenge in front of it.

Approximately 47% of the retail — roughly 37,600 SF — is expected to be vacant within the next twelve months, inclusive of the 23,000 SF hard-corner occupied by Walgreens. Concentrated rollover of this magnitude is both a risk and an opening: it affords the opportunity to re-merchandise a meaningful share of the center at once rather than backfilling space by space, potentially creating future obstacles to leasing. It also allows for repositioning of the anchor rather than simply re-letting it.

Our recommendation is to underwrite the future vacancy as a single, unified merchandising opportunity to employ a flexible demising strategy to build on the overall market's existing tenants and continued momentum. This preserves the exciting potential to deliver either a premier signature anchor tenant or a curated collective of in-demand restaurants, fitness, and experiential concepts at the base of this building.

With the announcement of Sony's Alamo Draft House backfilling the Cienramadome, BathHouse's arrival in LA from NYC, and the opening of Blue Note Jazz Club a year ago, we can attest to confirmed flagship retail demand in Hollywood. While restaurant demand has been somewhat light, we anticipate a marked improvement – food will follow!

Over the last 12 months, Hollywood retail vacancy has decreased from 7.3% to 6.2%, highlighting recovery in demand. The entertainment sector and tourism remain key retail demand drivers. The $750 million Film and Tax Credit Program is anticipated to assist with stabilizing the Los Angeles entertainment and film production industries, bolstering Hollywood's talent-based economy. The LA28 Olympics will draw additional tourists to Hollywood further driving local retail. Additionally, Hollywood represents a major population center, with strong foot traffic concentrated around landmarks, hotels, and Metro stations. Over the last 10 years, 6,643 residential units have been added representing a 79% increase in supply.

A lack of new retail development provides a positive signal for the outlook. Over the past decade, the submarket's retail footprint has contracted 210,000 SF as demolitions have outpaced new developments. This trend is unlikely to reverse soon, given the limited available land and Hollywood's stringent zoning and entitlement requirements.

Top 3 tapestry segmentations/lifestyles

Metro Renters

Residents in this highly mobile and educated market live alone or with a roommate in older apartment buildings and condos located in the urban core of the city. This is one of the fastest-growing segments; the popularity of urban life continues to increase for consumers in their late twenties and thirties.

Trendsetters

Trendsetters residents are singles—living alone or with roommates or partners. Dressed head to toe in the most current fashions, their weeknights and weekends are filled discovering local art and culture, dining out, or exploring new hobbies.

Young and Restless

These communities feature young, diverse urban residents (often under 35) in major Southern, Midwestern, and Western metros. Most live alone, with roommates, or as couples without children in apartments or high-rises. Many are foreign-born, college-educated, or currently enrolled. They show high workforce participation with middle-tier incomes, relocate frequently for opportunities, and enjoy short commutes from city centers or fringes.

OPPORTUNITY ASSESSMENT

Recommended landlord improvement work

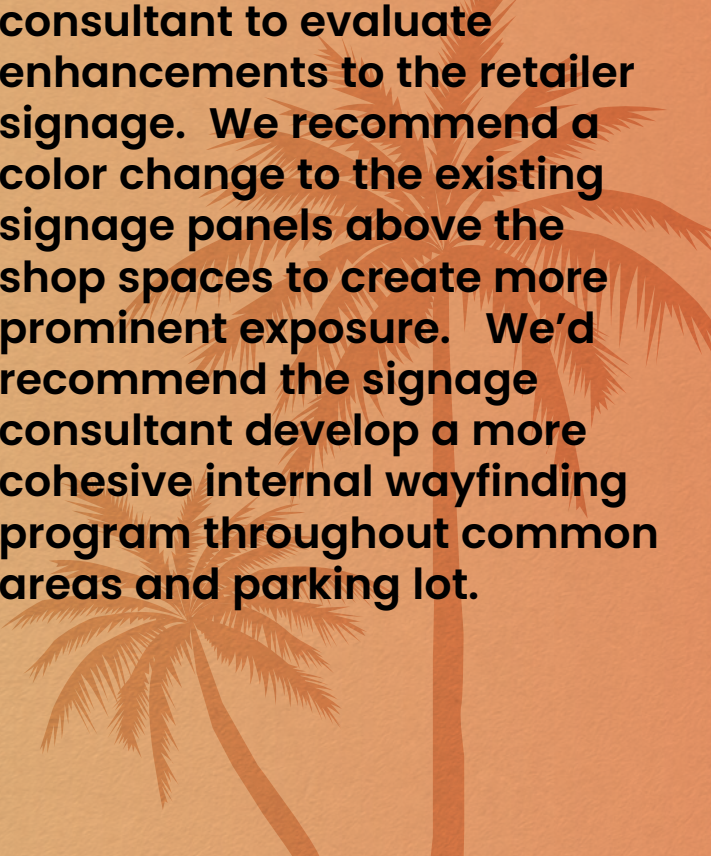

We recommend that the project be repainted and refreshed with brighter more vibrant.

Power/acid wash the concrete columns and treatments throughout the project to remove the discoloration and past graffiti repairs.

A stylized silhouette of a palm tree with a smaller palm tree to its left, set against a solid orange background.

Engage a professional signage consultant to evaluate enhancements to the retailer signage. We recommend a color change to the existing signage panels above the shop spaces to create more prominent exposure. We'd recommend the signage consultant develop a more cohesive internal wayfinding program throughout common areas and parking lot.

Create a cohesive storytelling window graphic program to enhance the curb appeal of the project and bring life to the vacant units and advertise the leasing opportunities – this should include the Walgreen's space.

MERCHANDISING PLAN #1

Fitness Anchor Tenant

Additional services to be considered:

- Hair Salon
- Wellness Center
- Dentistry
- Nail Salon
- Yoga/Pilates Studio
- Hydration Therapy

Based on our touring experience, there is a desire for a mid-to-high tier fitness user. The way this space loads-in may prove challenging or require costly improvements for other categories. The target merchandising mix to go along with a fitness user would be health-forward dining options, potential co-working space, and ancillary service uses.

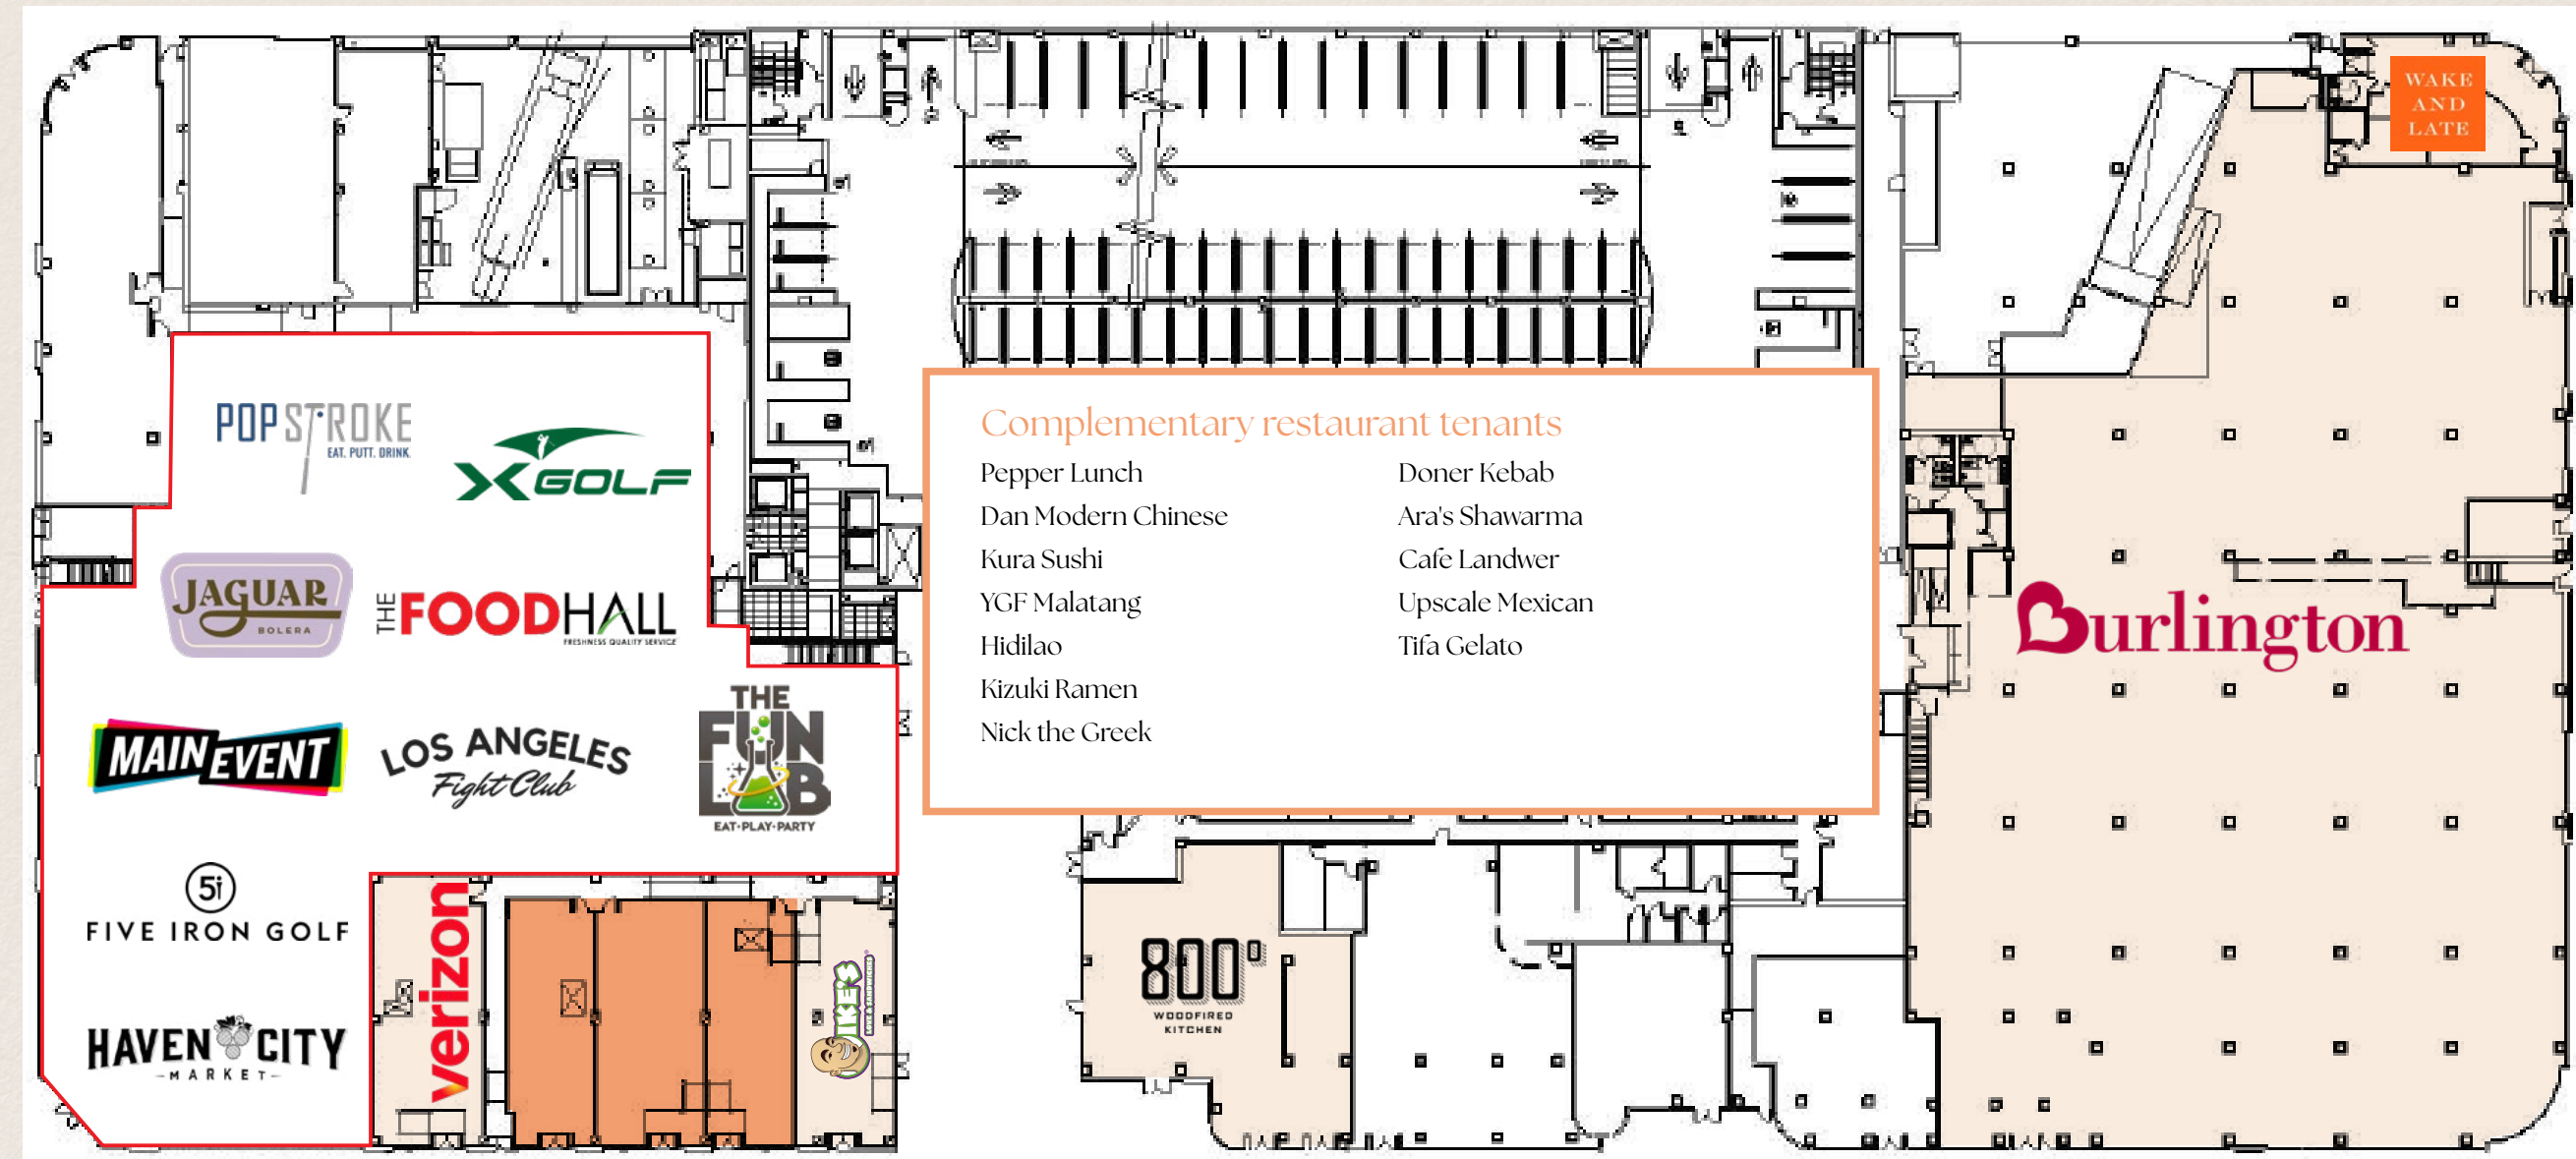

MERCHANDISING PLAN #2

Entertainment/Eater-tainment Anchor Tenant

Additional services to be considered:

- Hair Salon
- Wellness Center
- Dentistry
- Nail Salon
- Yoga/Pilates Studio
- Hydration Therapy

Aside from fitness, building on the entertainment momentum of this corner, an entertainment or eater-tainment use would be attractive. The target merchandising mix to match this category would include a robust mix of QSRs, sit-down dining, and a small selection of ancillary service uses.

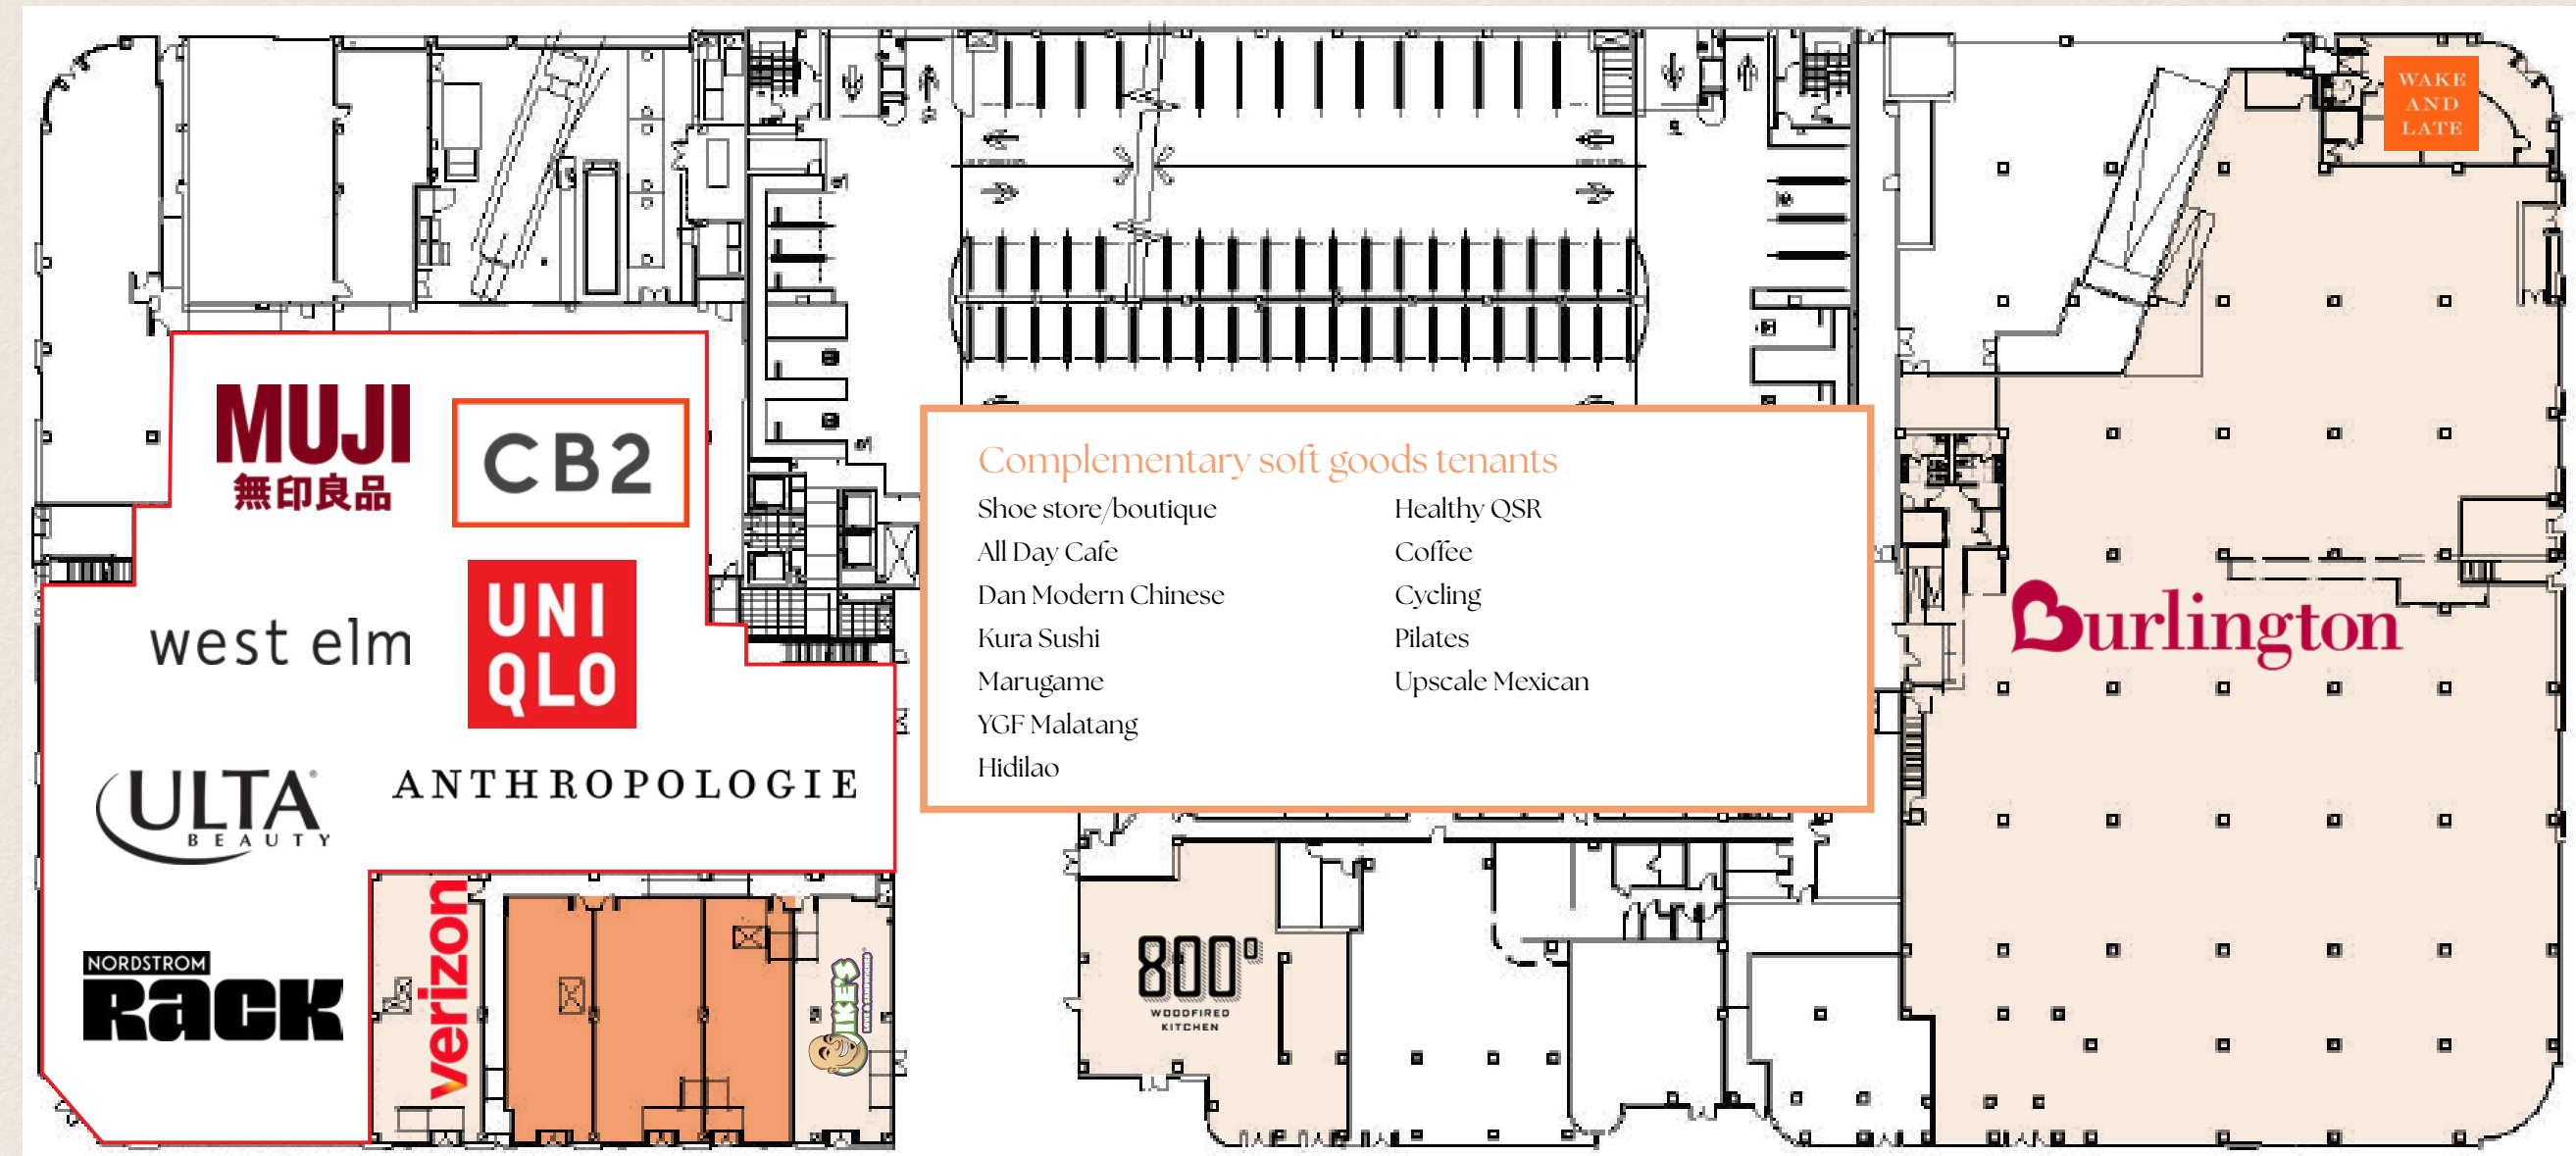

MERCHANDISING PLAN #3

Soft Goods Anchor Tenant

Additional services to be considered:

- Hair Salon
- Wellness Center
- Dentistry
- Nail Salon
- Yoga/Pilates Studio
- Hydration Therapy

Moving to the next best option for this collection, given the nature of the flagship-style corner and existing soft goods, anchoring the other end of this project with a quality soft goods tenant could make for a great customer experience. The additional uses to support the anchor would be a curated selection of dining, both QSR and sit-down, and boutique-style fitness and service uses.

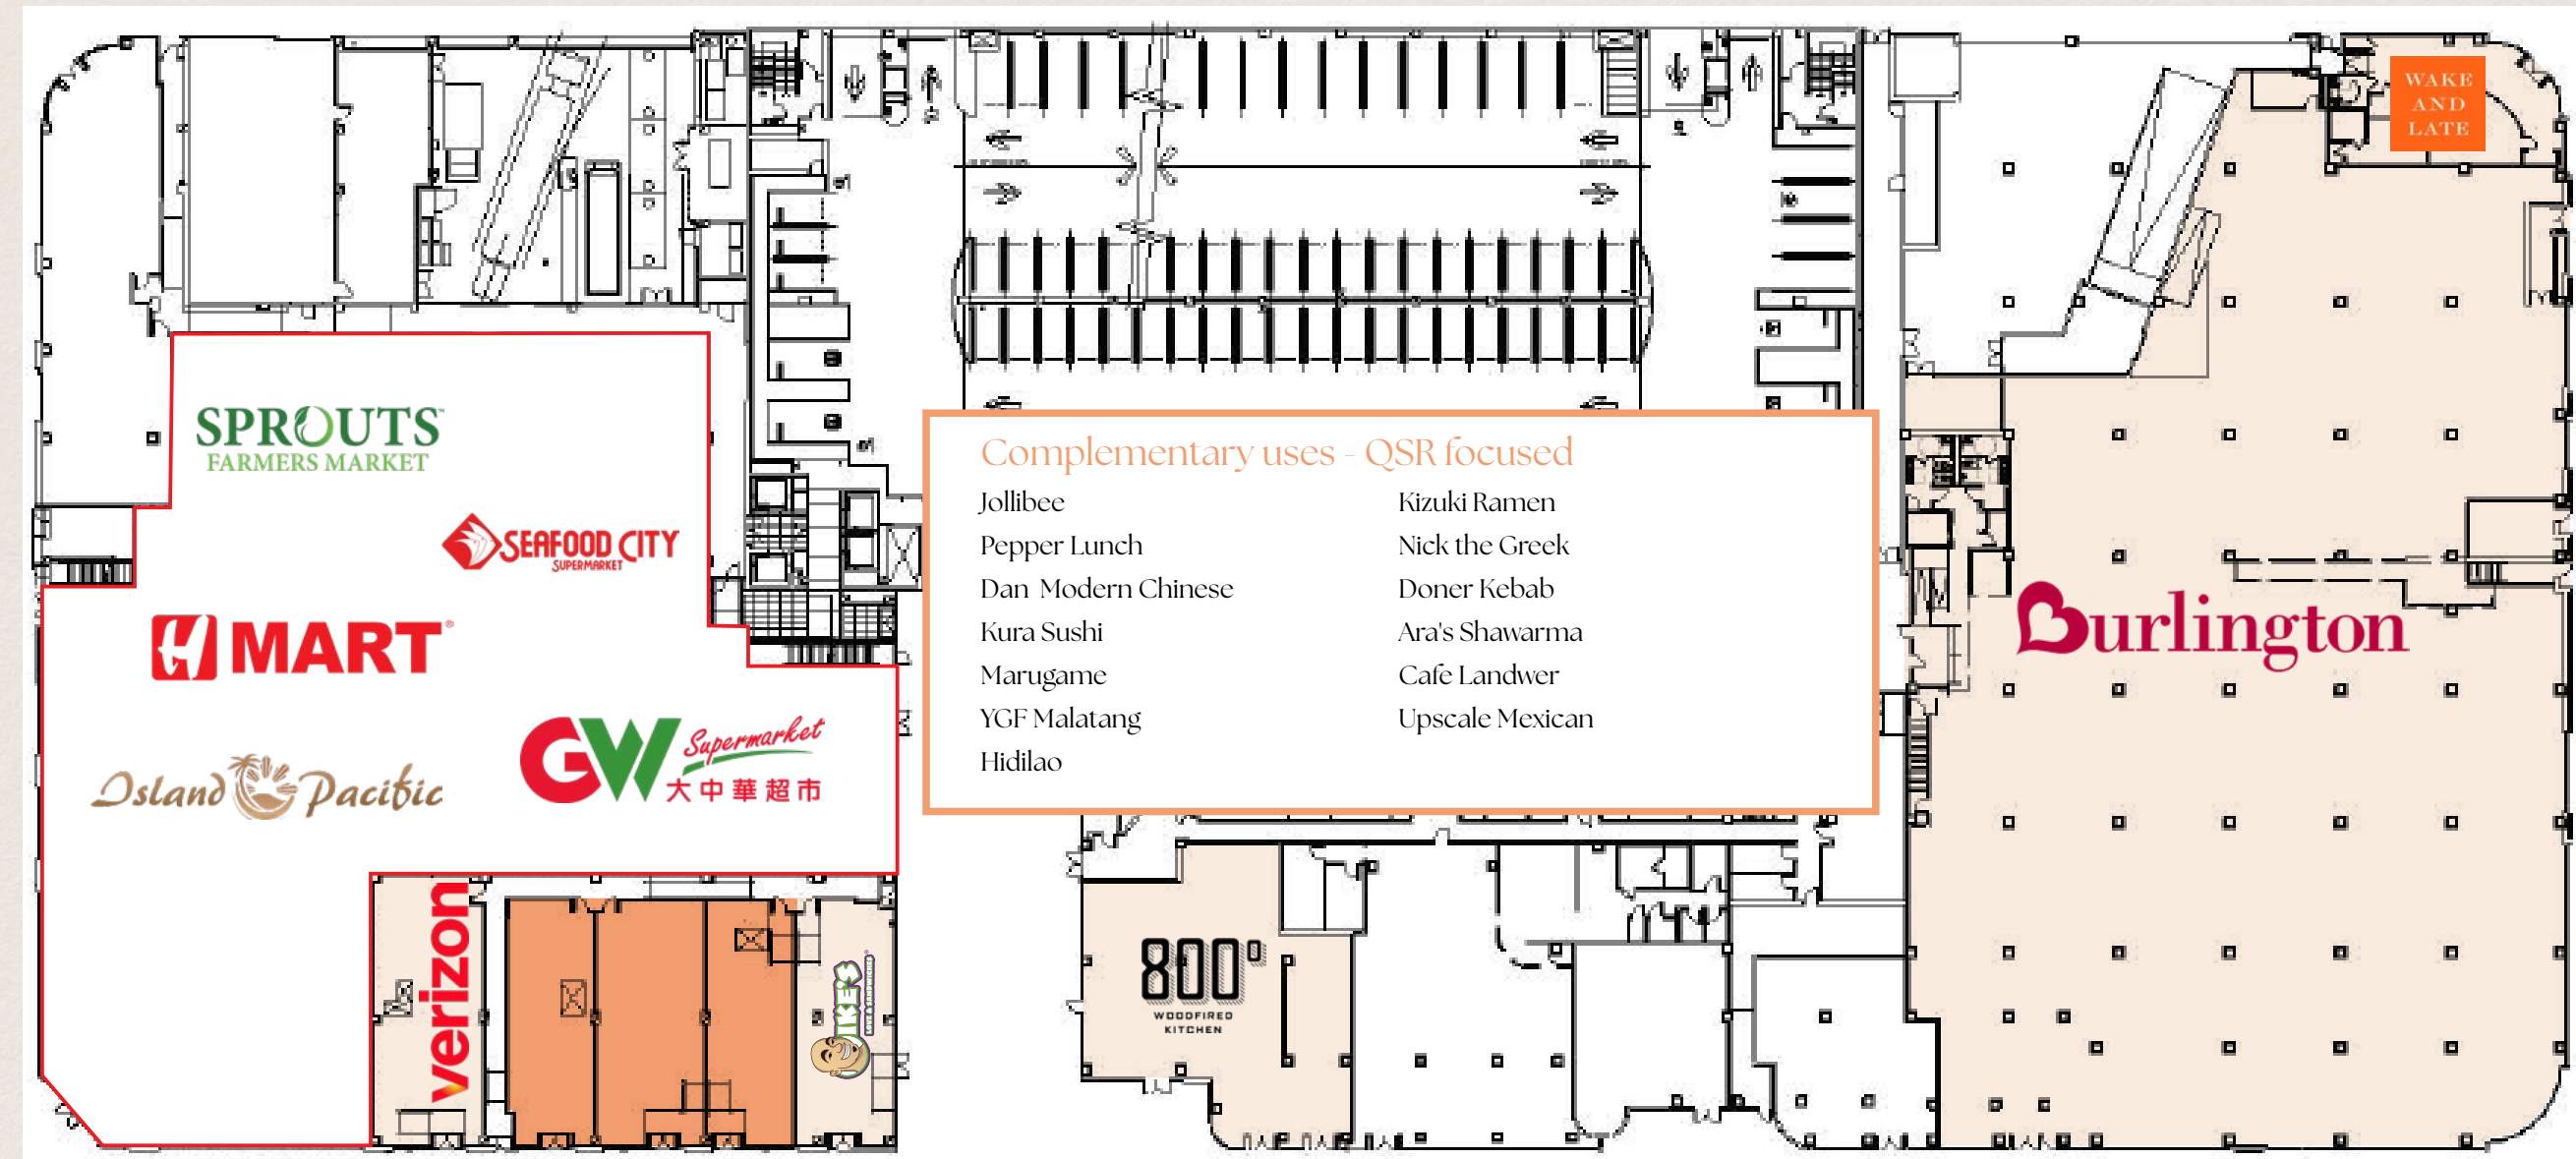

MERCHANDISING PLAN #4

Grocery Anchor Tenant

Additional services to be considered:

- Hair Salon
- Wellness Center
- Dentistry
- Nail Salon
- Yoga/Pilates Studio
- Hydration Therapy

While having a grocer would certainly be an amenity to the neighborhood, this category is well covered and our particular availability presents significant challenges to operations. It should be considered a lesser tier option. Uses that would perform well alongside a grocer are a variety of QSRs and limited service uses.
